Engine rebuild costs???? | Mustang Forums at StangNet

To those that have done it, what do you think a total cost would be (done by a shop, not me) to buy a used 5.0L (or new if thats a better way to go), rebuild it with performance in mind, a good set of heads, and all the front drive accessories, ECU, and harnesses.

total cost of a 5.0L swap into a 66 | Vintage Mustang Forums

The rest of the mechanical components of your classic Mustang will need to be compatible with the new engine, and that requires a few extra parts. From the transmission, which will need to be able to handle as much power as the engine produces, to the cooling system that will be necessary to remove the additional heat that's created when you ...
